Chancery Clerk salary fourth highest in state

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Secretary of State election division office reported Hancock County Chancery Clerk Michael Necaise's income of $97,218 as the fourth highest in the state for 1992.

Necaise earned the 1991 title of highest paid Chancery Clerk along the Coast with a $99,961 income.

This past year, Harrison County's Chancery Clerk G.N. "Nicky" Creel surpassed Necaise with a net earning of $116,999.

Creel's income was the highest in the state's 82 counties. Overall fee income generated by Necaise's office for 1992 was $128,175.

Office expenses and salaries for three employees working in fee collections totaling $44,757 are deducted from the $128,175, leaving Necaise with a net income of $83,418 as reported to the state by Necaise's office.

In addition, in Hancock County, the chancery clerk also works as county administrator and auditor/treasurer. For these services the county pays him $13,800, which is reflected in the $97,218 total. Necaise has been Chancery Clerk since 1980.

Election division special projects officer Burns Strider also reported Circuit Clerk Pamela Metzler earned $52,108 for 1992. Metzler ranks last on the Coast, and 20th in the state.

The circuit clerk's office earned a total of $58,143 in fee income with deductions of $6,035.

Within those deductions are out-of-pocket expenses paid by the circuit clerk to her employees, who are paid by the county.

This is the last year either elected office, chancery clerk or circuit clerk, may earn more than the Governor's salary of $75,000.

Casino Magic to construct hotel, RV park, golf course and more

BY LIZ HAAS

At a groundbreaking ceremony Thursday for the Casino Magic resort hotel, Casino Magic Corp. president and CEO Marlin Torguson announced Bay St. Louis as the official headquarters of all U.S. expansions.

In addition, he announced plans for several expansions to the existing land-based casino.

CASINO MAGIC HOTEL
Torguson said the construction of the $100 million Casino Magic resort hotel, with 15 stories, will begin in June with an initial occupancy scheduled for the summer of 1994.

The first phase of the hotel construction will be completed by next summer with 750 rooms, including 694 double rooms and 56 suites.

By 1995, the 1,500 rooms will be completed on the hotel.

The hotel, convention center and entertainment complex will also include two pools, a health club, a sand beach, 10 retail shops, four specialty restaurants, a food court and a large buffet area.

Torguson said the nation's number one food chain will also be housed in the hotel area.

The convention and entertainment complex, to house special major events, will seat approximately 5,000 people. The facility will be connected to the casino.

Wayne London is the architect and Roy Anderson is the contractor.

ARNOLD PALMER GOLF COURSE

Torguson reviewed plans for the Arnold Palmer Golf Course, which will include a 27-hole golf course and 18-hole putting course in addition to an Arnold Palmer Academy. The golf course is scheduled to open in the spring of 1995.

The course will be managed by the Arnold Palmer Design

Management Company.

RV PARK

In addition, Casino Magic Corporation is constructing an RV Park to include 106 spaces and a concrete building housing laundry facilities and showers. There are also plans for campgrounds and a 100-slip marina.

"We want to bring those people to the area and have them spend money in the county, not just the casino," said Torguson.

CASINO BELLE

"The latest addition to our expansions is the Casino Belle, a 400-foot, two-year-old boat to be parked adjacent to the casino with access from inside the existing casino," said Torguson. "We are bringing in this boat to take care of an overflow of people. With the tourist season

Baldree to move

Bay-Waveland school board supports Tisdale in transfer of Waveland principal

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

James Baldree, 16-year principal of Waveland Elementary, will be moving to the reinstated position of junior high school principal following the closing of this school year.

The board voted three-to-one supporting Superintendent Paul Tisdale's transfer of Baldree to the Bay High complex.

Prior to voting in opposition, board member Linda Penrose bluntly stated, "I totally disagree."

Board member Tracy Joseph was absent.

The board room was filled to overflow for the second consecutive time, with the majority of those present adamantly voicing opposition to the superintendent's intent.

Baldree commented, "I'm not surprised, but very disappointed."

As to whether he will accept the new position, Baldree said he was not ready to comment at the time.

Board members approved a change in the agenda early in the evening to allow comments from the public.

Along with comments opposing Baldree's transfer, concern for more public and staff input into board decisions was requested by audience members.

Peggy Dutton, representing Unified Educators of Bay St. Louis-Waveland, presented information listing Bay-Waveland teachers as the lowest paid along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Citing salaries of teachers with 23 years experience and A certification, salaries were quoted as:

—Bay St. Louis/Waveland, $24,700; Hancock County, $24,788; Pass Christian, $25,552; Ocean Springs, $25,650; Harrison County, $25,790; Long Beach, $25,970; Gulfport, $26,397; Pascagoula, coming, we felt we needed it," said Len James Giaccone, Casino Magic public relations manager.

The boat will be used to house over 1,000 additional gaming positions and is scheduled to arrive today.

"After May 15 we plan to have the boat operating," said Torguson.

PARKING AND TRAFFIC
In the area of parking, 450 parking positions will be added to the existing 1,500 by June. By next summer, the casino plans to have a total of 3,200 parking stalls.

"We continue to work on permits to four-lane the roads to our property and are negotiating to extend the four lanes all the way to Highway 90 to alleviate the traffic problem. We will hopefully have the matter resolved by the summer," said Torguson.

CHILDREN'S ACTIVITIES

Casino Magic Corporation also has plans involving children for such things as a day care center for children of employees and visitors, a theme park area with waterslides and passive rides and development of activities dealing with the water.

Some of the beautification plans are to showcase the front of the casino building with a waterfall effect and lots of landscaping, according to Torguson.

Torguson said the air program presently has 28 charters planned over the next few months and eventually hopes to have two charter flights a day.

The casino now employs 1,700 people, with an additional 500 in training school.

Ladner

Ladner compares coaching to the ministry. He said, "I sincerely believe coaching is a calling as is the ministry. I believe there are and should be great carry-over values in life's journey for these young athletes."

"I use the game of basketball in comparison to the game of life. These athletes experience success and failure, ups and downs, excitement and disappointments, glory and despair."

"They should learn how to lose and how to be a graceful winner, how to turn defeat and failure into success, how to set reasonable goals and then strive to achieve them. They should learn that anything worth having or securing is worth hard work, education and paying the price for it. They need to have a sense of direction."

Among his high school boys teams honors have been a state championship, first high school to ever get an invitation to play in the Louisiana Superdome, won the Houston Rocket Sportsman Trophy in a 32-team Jaycee Holiday Classic in Houston, Texas, played in the Vanguard Ocala, Florida Classic, and numerous invitations for tournaments in six states.

His honors include Mississippi Association of Coaches Hall of Fame, 1984; Coach of the Year in men's basketball in Region 5 (Southern United States), 1981; Coach of the Year in men's basketball in Mississippi, 1972 and 1981; coach of the state All-Star team South Mississippi, 1957 and 1966 among other honors.

Ladner's pride in coaching was Wendell Ladner, who was one of the most recruited high school basketball players in the country in 1966. Wendell Lad-

County and many activities to help youth attend special events in far away places.

Ladner attributes much of his success to the caring and understanding of his wife, Myrdesia of 33 years and son Michael, a Memphis State University assistant girls basketball coach; and daughters Mona Reynolds and Melinda Ladner

"I sincerely believe coaching is a calling as is the ministry. I believe there are and should be great carry-over values in life's journey for these young athletes."

Ladner

ner was a high school All-American at Hancock North Central and received over 100 college scholarship offers.

Wendell attended the University of Southern Mississippi, after college played with the Memphis Tams, Kentucky Colonels and ended up playing with the New York Nets as a team member with Julius (Dr. J.) Irvin. He was killed in a plane crash while a member of the Nets.

Ladner is now a member of St. Matthews Catholic Church at Nacaise Crossing, served as an Election Commissioner for 12 years, organized a community center in Northern Hancock of Bay St. Louis. The Ladners have one granddaughter.

"In all my years of coaching, my wife has always been at my side and understanding. There were many nights of waiting, times when she needed a person to talk to," Ladner said.

Ladner continued, "When I look about the coaching ranks, it pleases me to know there are coaches who were my players and are now carrying on where I left off."

Ladner still has time to help basketball clinics, to help high school graduates receive the right scholarships, and do some of the farming he had to forego for so many years.

EDITORIAL

It is important to vote Tuesday

On Tuesday qualified electors in Bay St. Louis will vote for the city's leadership for the next four years. Every vote is important and all qualified persons should vote for the candidates of their choice.

This is a critical time for Bay St. Louis because of the fast growth in recent months. You need to elect those who will best serve your interests.

Each qualified elector will be able to vote for a candidate for mayor, councilman-at-large, individual councilman and six Democratic Executive Committee members.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Ward One votes at Bay Senior High, 750 Blue Meadow Road; Ward Two at Hancock County Library, 312 Highway 90; Ward Three, Bay St. Louis Fire Department, 310 Old Spanish Trail; Ward Four, Christ Episcopal Virginia Hall, 912 South Beach.

Voter tabulation will follow the closing of the polls at the new City Hall, Court Street.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

It will be Business After Hours Monday from 5 to 7 p.m. at Trendsetters, 107 Highway 90, Bay St. Louis. The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce event will also feature artwork by Andrea Loiacano.

May's sponsor is Trendsetters, and admission is two business cards for chamber members.

Who has a photo of the Bay Ice Company? I would like to use a copy to place in the paper.

It was at the hub of activity in Bay St. Louis across from the old depot.

Henry Burge, grandson of one of the former owners of the Bay Ice Company would like to see a photo, too.

He reports his aunt's residence is located behind the old ice house, and her power bill is still addressed to Bay Ice Company.

The Ice Company was the original supplier of electricity for the city before Mississippi Power Company came along.

FROM THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

By Governor Kirk Fordice

How to save taxpayer money with a line-item veto

"The governor may veto parts of any appropriation bill, and approve parts of the same, and the portions approved shall be law."

—Section 73, Mississippi Constitution
I want the people of Mississippi to become very familiar with this sentence — your future depends on it. This sentence has been rightly interpreted by your Governor and many of your legislators to mean that a governor can cut more than $10 million in government salaries and $60 million in new bond debt from a state government that is growing out of control.

Many state legislators are joining me in questioning business-as-usual in Jackson and are challenging someone to tell the people of Mississippi why they have to pay for $70 million in more government next year.

Did we not just finish a legislative session where our government was begged not to spend most of its $130 million in surplus, but did anyway?

Were we not just saddled with $98 million in new debt last year? Were we not just hit with a $166-million sales tax a year ago this July and promised real government reduction in return — reductions which we never got?

The brakes were put on this runaway train last week with my line-item vetoes, and even though the ink on these bills is not even dry yet, the government wailing has already begun.

Contrary to what the Attorney General and a handful of legislators say, my vetoes are not unconstitutional and do not warrant court action. Despite their suggestions, my vetoes are not disrupting our system of checks and balances.

The Legislature is more than welcome to come here to Jackson next January and try to override my vetoes if they believe we need $70 million worth of more government. And for the ludicrous accusation that my actions are somehow a power grab, I say, just tell that to the 42 other chief executives of states across this country who have the good government "power" of a line-item veto.

I doubt the framers of their constitutions, or ours, would consider such a tool as "power grab." And besides, how could anybody call saving $70 million in taxpayers' money a "power grab?"

My reason for these vetoes is simple. During the previous administration 3,000 new government employees were added — while Mississippi's population remained virtually unchanged. During my first year in office I administratively reduced that number by 500 positions.

My vetoes of 581 new government posts for next year reflects a reduction in bureaucracy the people of Mississippi were promised in the tax increase "deal" last year, but did not get.

My vetoes of two bond bills were for similar reasons. Our bond situation is Mississippi's version of the national debt. Mississippi is currently carrying $700 million in bonded indebtedness. That means $700 million that we won't have to worry about paying — our children and grandchildren will have to try to take care of that debt for us.

A great scholar once wrote, "Look to the essence of a thing, whether it be a point of doctrine, of practice, or of interpretation." Over the next several weeks and perhaps months, the people of Mississippi will hear many accusations, opinions and legal jargon from the mouths of politicians — but these distractions are not the "essence" of this issue. The essence is this — do you want the government you support to spend $10 million in new salaries and incur $60 million in new debt next year — or do you believe I was right in stopping it? Answer this question and join the debate — your future depends on it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Schools deserve permanent subsidy from gaming profits

Dear Editor:

Providing the opportunity for an excellent education is perhaps the most important thing a community can do for its children. The school system requires strong, continuing funding to provide these opportunities.

Increased funding for education was used as one of the selling points for gaming. Gaming should be used to help fund the future of our children. The cities of Gulfport and Biloxi understood that — they permanently dedicated a percentage of gaming revenue to the school system.

The money Bay St. Louis is giving the Bay-Waveland Schools resembles more of a charitable donation than a permanent dedication. Our schools should be receiving an ongoing percentage of gaming revenue, and the city should have arranged for that long ago. Allocating the money for our schools just weeks before elections is playing politics with our children's education.

I continually read how much money Casino Magic is taking in. It reminds me how much Bay St. Louis was supposed to get. Due to a bill that Representative Compretta and Senator Frankiewicz helped pass, the city is entitled to $2.50 per person who enters the casino. Unfortunately, Bay St. Louis settled for the lump sum of $1.8 million.

The city's $134,000 gaming study done by New York consultants estimated the number of yearly visitors and the $1.8 million figure was based on this estimate. It is unfortunate that there is no clause in the agreement that would have compensated Bay St. Louis if the number of casino visitors turns out to be significantly greater than the estimate.

Again, I firmly believe that in negotiating this arrangement, a percentage of gaming revenues in Bay St. Louis should have gone to the schools. Many of us voted for dockside gaming on the assumption that its revenues would bring about some improvement in education. I feel that we have been misled.

Sincerely,
Stacey M. Standridge

Teachers' rewards should be monetary as well as intangible

Dear Editor,

In response to Ms. Fox's quote in "Street Talk," regarding the overpayment of teachers, we would like to make a few comments.

Most teachers and assistants would agree that the main reason for their career choice is the inner rewards gained by watching children grow and learn while under their guidance. There is a special feeling of pride when a child discovers that he/she can grasp a concept or master a skill that seemed so hard and unobtainable to him.

However, reality sets in when a teacher goes home and opens the mailbox to discover many bills that his/her paycheck cannot cover. The inner rewards fade away while teachers ponder and worry about which bills to pay and which ones to set aside for awhile.

Many teachers have to face finding a supplemental income (a second or sometimes a third job). Teachers have families, too. And in the process, these families are neglected while the teachers not only work their second jobs, but complete the mountain of paperwork brought home from a regular day at school.

In many cases, a spouse works in order to provide the monetary support for the family. However, in a majority of these cases, the spouse has the same or less education and skill training, but is earning a much higher sum of money.

For example, in terms of annual pay, my husband graduated with a bachelor's degree and started his career with an income of $6,000 more than I currently make after eight years of teaching with the same degree, plus many extra hours of staff training and workshops. This is based on a teacher's salary.

An assistant's salary is far worse. Their salaries vary according to years of experience (not including any college credits) but all to my knowledge are less than $9,000 a year. Up until this year, few changes have been made in regards to benefits and salaries. Changes are desperately needed in order to keep quality educators in Mississippi and especially on the Coast.

Also, in response to the homework issue, many parents welcome a chance to interact with their child by using these enrichment activities. As the old saying goes, "Practice makes perfect," although no child is expected to be perfect, the practice is important in order for a child to maintain his level of proficiency with any skill. Homework is a reinforcement of the skills that have been taught at school. Reinforcement cannot hurt a child, it can only help.

Teachers are important and should be treated with the respect they deserve. An individual, regardless of race, sex, or social status, can attain his goals if provided with someone qualified to guide him.

Teachers are responsible for more than just academics. They are the ones who spend a major part of the day with these children teaching them formal and informal skills needed in order to prepare them for life in a large society. In order for the quality educators to stay in this field, they are going to need the support from the parents, administrators and the government.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

The wrong kind of competition

House Bill 1619, Senate Bill 3124.

These two pieces of legislation from the 1993 legislative session probably don't ring a bell with most Mississippians, but their veto by Governor Kirk Fordice prevented what many consider a dangerous precedent from being set.

House Bill 1619 sought to authorize one city in the state "to acquire, purchase and/or construct a cable television system; to authorize the city to issue bonds for those purposes; to authorize the city to own and operate the cable television system."

Senate Bill 3124 contained exactly the same language for another city.

While there were calls during the 1993 session for the privatization of some government services in order to produce greater efficiency and better use of tax dollars, allowing a governmental entity to directly compete with private business — backed by taxpayer financing — goes against the grain of free enterprise and democratic government.

The Governor raised several questions about these bills. Why would taxpayers support the use of their money to finance a venture that would compete against a private business? Would a government-run enterprise regulate itself as stringently as a privately-run business? Wouldn't taxpayers rather see the money used to fund a new school building or to improve water and sewer systems or to upgrade their police and fire protection?

Government, at any level, should not compete against private business. Governor Fordice was justified in his vetoes of these bills.

Reflections

On Life

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Beware what you pray

"Father, I haven't been able to pray in weeks. I'm terribly depressed. I don't know what I'm doing. I can't even read the Bible without getting completely frustrated. In fact, I find myself very angry at God for letting this happen to me."

Long distance served only to intensify the painful dryness and hollowness of my friend's prayer experience as she struggled to put her spiritual life on an even keel.

"It's unfair, that's what it is! Why is it that those who are oppressing me on the job have no big problems in life?"

"Read the Psalms!" I countered. "David had as many or more complaints than you, and he put them into psalms. Complaining against God should be a special prayer. Even your most painful moments should be occasions of prayer."

"However, be fully aware of what you are praying for. Especially be aware that God will give you the most important things first, and they may not be on your petition list. Read Psalm 73 (72 in some versions)."

"Even if you pray for peace, its price may entail a great deal of suffering as you are being separated from the wicked. So, beware what you pray for! You just might receive it."

That saying is as old as dirt, and the old folks remind us of it so often that we'll never forget it.

Somehow secreted in the statement is the thought that we are frequently unaware of exactly what we are praying for, or of what our particular prayer at a given moment really means.

Usually, our prayer is one of petition: we want something. Not only is it natural for us to beg for help or for a favor, but we are emboldened by Jesus to do it.

"Ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find; knock, and the door will be opened to you" (Mt. 7: 7).

As if this mandate were not broad enough and comprehensive enough, Jesus stretches out much further:

"Whatever you ask for in prayer with faith, you will receive" (Mt. 21: 23).

And again: "Whatever you ask in my name, I will do, so that the Father may be glorified in the Son" (Jn. 14: 13).

Even: "If you have faith the size of a mustard seed, you will say to this mountain, 'Move from here to there,' and it will move. Nothing will be impossible for you" (Mt. 17: 20).

Are we to conclude, then, that God will give us whatever we ask for as long as our faith does not waver?

That would seem to be the case until we peer into some other paradoxical statements of Jesus. Consider, for instance, Jesus' main criterion for our discipleship:

"Whoever wishes to come after me must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me" (Mt. 16: 24).

If our prayer is to be consistent with that, we cannot expect too much in the way of relief from our daily woes. On the contrary, phases of the cross are tools of growth.

No matter how frustrating and disgusting our condition in life becomes, the driest prayer is still prayer, and our very state of pain and discontent is a prayer, if lifted up to the compassion of God and, in effect, turned over to God.

Prayer of thanks and praise is immeasurably more important and more powerful than any prayer of petition. It will be well with you if you just thank and praise God.

Better to spend our tax money on schools, roads and parks than to spend it picking up behind us!

Peanut Give-A-Way slated by Kiwanis Club May 7-8

A community-wide "Peanut Give-A-Way" will be Friday, May 7 and Saturday, May 8 by the Hancock County Kiwanis Club. Project Chairman Billy Brunson said club members and other volunteers will be located throughout Bay St. Louis and Waveland offering peanuts in return for a cash donation.

"Club members will be joined by students from the St. Stanislaus Key Club, Bay High Interact Club and SADD, who have volunteered to help us with this fund-raising project," Brunson said.

Roger James, club president, said, "Kiwanis Clubs are organized to help others and our first priority is the youth of Hancock County. Proceeds from this Peanut Give-A-Way will help us assist in community projects like the Youth Center renovation work and other programs or activities for young people."

Volunteers will be on the streets at Hwy. 603 and Hwy. 90 and at the corner of Main Street and Hwy. 90. They also will be in local shopping centers.

"The Peanut Give-A-Way is just one way we hope to let others know about Kiwanis Clubs and our work to help others," Brunson said.

RE-ELECT THE PERSON YOU KNOW ... James J. "Jimmy" RUTHERFORD Councilman-At-Large

My wife, Peggy, my sons, Tommy and Michael and I would like to thank the citizens of Bay St. Louis for their past support. We would also ask for your support on May 4, so together, we can continue to build a brighter Bay St. Louis.

Formulating economic development that provides job opportunities, better growth for small businesses that will coincide with the preservation of our culture, lifestyle and historical past.

Utility services that are continually improved, as in the past, and are efficiently run to keep rate cuts in place with a possibility of more rate cuts in the future.

Taxes that have been cut (property and auto tags); not to be raised as long as adequate revenue is available.

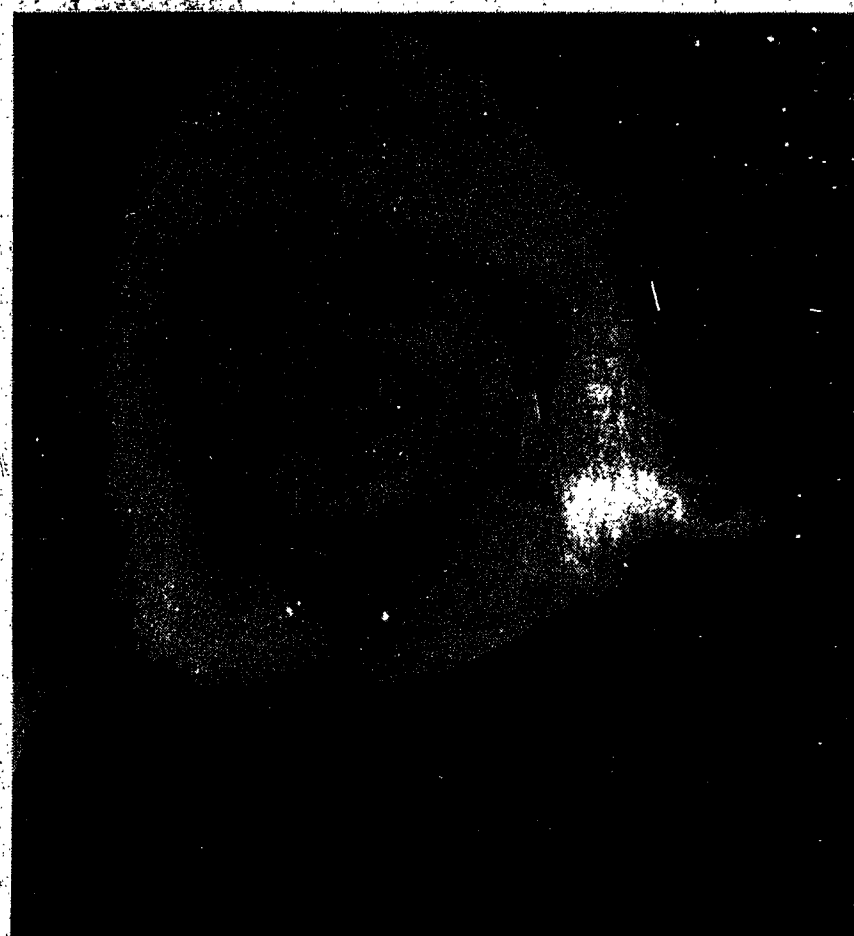

Utization of local citizens' talents, to continue the many programs that are already in place (neighborhood watch, Bay St. Louis Development Foundation and McGruff houses); and look at other programs for the future.

Readying our fire, police and public works departments to meet future growth and needs. This needs to be accomplished through salaries that are competitive, training and updated equipment.

Efficient use of your tax dollars, so we can continue to improve: streets, drainage, sidewalks and other projects, such as the depot renovation. Continuing support to the library, parks and playgrounds systems and schools.

I'm now going to ask the voters of our community not to let me walk in front of you. I feel you do not need to be led. Do not walk in front of me. I do not need to be led. Come, walk next to my family and me and be our friends, so together we can build a brighter future.

EXPERIENCED HARDWORKING FULL-TIME LEADERSHIP

#3

We are in the early stages of a growth period unlike anything in our past. Long-range planning and foresight are essential if we are to direct our growth in a manner that nurtures our community for future generations to proudly inherit. I am committed to working together with you in protecting the quality of life that we have grown accustomed to and that makes our city so special to each of us. I am prepared to provide the strong and decisive leadership, necessary to bring us through these challenging times. Throughout this campaign, I have made it exactly clear where I stand on the issues facing our community.

#3

ZONING - We need a comprehensive zoning plan that properly addresses casino development. We are 2 1/2 years behind. I am opposed to ANY casino development on our beachfront. I will take every legal and rightful step possible to preserve our city's character & historical charm.

I WILL MAKE THIS A TOP PRIORITY!

EDUCATIONAL EXCELLENCE - We need to take steps to ensure that a percentage of gaming revenue is dedicated to our schools. Year in and year out. As part of this, we need to enact a plan to assure that teacher salaries progress to at least the Coast average.

I WILL TAKE THE LEADERSHIP ROLE IN MAKING IT HAPPEN!

RECREATION & YOUTH PROGRAMS - We have an organized sports program, but we need to expand it to where these are part of the overall program. Our children need entertainment and places to go. It's time that we develop a long-range plan to include such things as a Community Center.

I WILL WORK WITH YOU TO DEVELOP A PLAN AND SEEK FUNDING TO GET IT MOVING!

LONG-RANGE PLANNING ...

I WILL WORK WITH YOU, NOT FOR YOU, ON A LONG-RANGE PLAN THAT WILL DIRECT OUR GROWTH AND PROTECT OUR LONGTIME NATURAL, HISTORICAL AND RESIDENTIAL ASSETS.

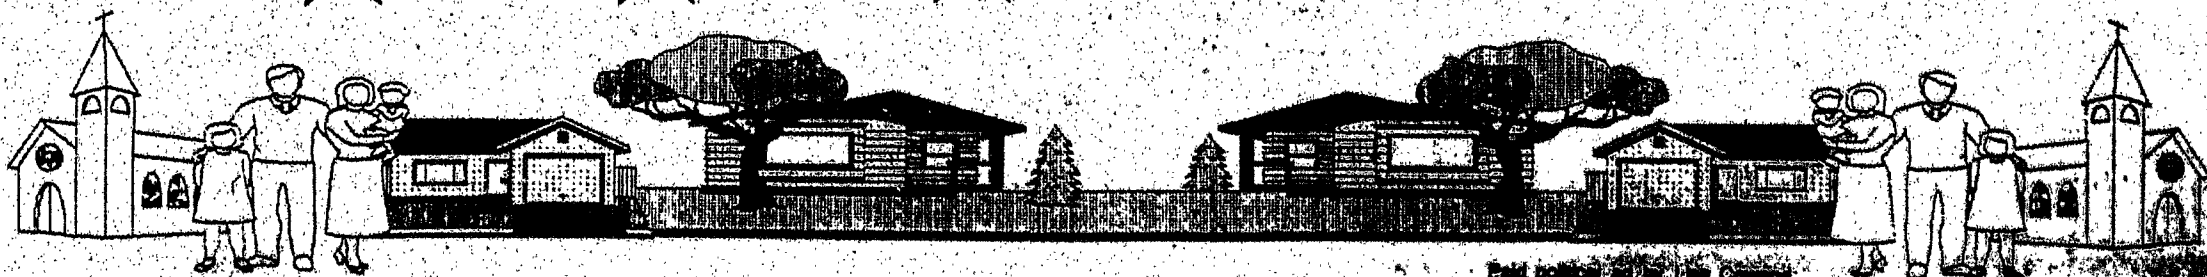

- ★ Complete and Upgrade the Sewer System
- ★ Drainage and Road Improvements
- ★ Traffic Control Needs Immediate Attention that Kicks Off Our Long-Range Plan
- ★ Expansion of Police and Fire Protection
- ★ Plan and Construct Sidewalks and Bicycle Paths

IF YOU NEED A RIDE TO THE POLLS OR IF YOU HAVE ANY QUESTIONS, PLEASE CALL ME AT 467-0506

I have an image of our city where we are a unified community pulling together. Where our long-term goal is providing for a superior quality of life for all our people. Where short-term decisions are made while focused on our long-term goal. Made up of neighborhoods and sidewalks, not parking lots and asphalt. Where a business like a casino is viewed first, for its overall effect on our community and then secondly as a means for us to improve our standard of living. Where we are not just growing, but more importantly, improving. Where our children come first and above all else. Where integrity, openness and honesty prevail.

IT CAN BE DONE AND CAN START ON MAY 4TH!

Two full-scale replicas of the Space Station's U. S. modules will be open to the public, free of charge from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. through May 6 at NASA's John C. Stennis Space Center.

What's new at Stennis?

Space Station replica, other exhibits featured this month at Visitor's Center

The public is invited to view new exhibits, both indoors and out, at John C. Stennis Space Center.

SPACE STATION MODULES

Stennis currently has two full-scale replicas of the Space Station's U.S. modules which are open for viewing from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. through May 6, free of charge.

The habitation module and U.S. laboratory module give visitors an indication of the environment in which four astronauts will live and work for weeks and months at a time in space. The actual Space Station will orbit 250 miles above Earth.

Visitors can be strapped into one of the astronaut's sleep restraint units to experience how the crew will rest in low gravity. In space, there is no up and down orientation as we are accustomed to on Earth. So all areas of the station will be usable. The exhibit illustrates this with equipment racks on the floor, ceiling and side walls.

This Space Station exhibit is the closest most people will come to experiencing the environment where astronauts will push the limits of endurance as our nation prepares to return to the moon and go on to Mars.

The most important reason for Space Station is to learn more about the human body and the effects of weightlessness on bones, muscle, blood flow, etc., over extended periods of time. All of this is vital information before man will be able to travel to the moon and Mars. This research will help on Earth, too.

Less than a year old, the exhibit has already made appearances at a number of significant events across the country, such as the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics Convention in Nashville, Capitol Hill in Washington, D.C., the Technology 2002 Expo in Baltimore and several air shows.

Upon leaving Stennis, the modules will travel by two tractor trailers to the Mississippi Coast Coliseum for other events, including the 44th annual International Science and Engineering Fair.

This exhibit was first requested for the 2,000 participants in the fair, including almost 1,000 of the world's brightest students, their parents, teachers and judges, as well as thousands of local students who will visit the exhibits during field trips to the science and engineering fair.

Marshall Space Flight Center agreed to send the exhibit earlier in order that Stennis visitors would have the opportunity to view the modules, too. After the fair, the exhibit will leave for the National Governor's Conference in Kentucky.

The Space Station modules are located in the parking lot south of the Visitors Center.

RICHARD TRULY EXHIBIT

While visiting Stennis Space

Center, the public is invited to take advantage of the other exhibits which have opened this month. The Visitors Center contains a new exhibit featuring former NASA administrator and astronaut Richard Truly, originally from Fayette, Miss.

OTHER NEW EXHIBITS

Another new exhibit depicting the National Aero-Space Plane (NASP), a joint project between the Department of Defense and NASA, is also housed in the Visitors Center's Hall of Achievements.

The NASP will be a test vehicle that will take off horizontally, fly into orbit at speeds of up to Mach 25, then return through the atmosphere to land on a runway. The High Heat Flux Facility, currently under construction at SSC, will perform high-temperature tests on materials in support of the plane.

Other new exhibits in the visitors Center Hall of Achievements include the Space Transportation Main-Engine exhibit, which highlights Stennis Space Center's Component Test Facility. This engine will be used to power a future generation of heavy-lift launch vehicles into space at reduced costs.

Outside the Visitors Center, in the newly refurbished park, visitors can view the Space Shuttle's 154-foot external fuel tank and the latest exhibit, a 149-foot Space Shuttle Solid Rocket Booster. Additions to the park also include a new stage for outdoor presentations by tour guides and modern restroom facilities.

In 1992, nearly 114,000 people visited Stennis Space Center, NASA's Center of Excellence for large propulsion systems testing, representing all 50 states and 60 foreign countries.

Exciting and informative programs and activities for visitors of all ages are conducted daily free of charge. These programs and activities include guided tours, films, demonstrations and an extensive collection of exhibits and displays, indoors and out.

The Visitors Center is open seven days a week, except Easter, Thanksgiving and Christmas, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Special presentations for groups can be arranged by calling 688-2370.

"GOOD, BETTER BEST ... NEVER LET IT REST UNTIL THE GOOD BECOMES BETTER AND THE BETTER BECOMES THE BEST."

Summer camp features inventing

Tear apart a camera and you'll find out how it works. Consider a problem having your natural curiosity and you'll find a solution. Make the learning environment fun and natural and discovery becomes exciting.

Put all these elements together and you have Camp Invention, a unique and stimulating week-long kids camp that Coast Episcopal Elementary School will sponsor during the week of July 6-10.

Camp Invention is for children who have completed grades 1-6. During the week, children will take apart old telephones, radios, cameras, and other obsolete machines to see how they work and why.

Camp Invention

A Program of Invention Place

They will publish a camp newspaper. These and other activities will stimulate their creative abilities, build confidence, and teach them about themselves and the world around them.

Camp Invention gives children a week to react to their curiosity without raising their hands. Says camp director Betty Grant, "At Camp Invention, children explore problems and discover answers. They discover the joy of learning and the excitement of invention."

Place, home of the National Inventors Hall of Fame, Camp Invention has challenged more than 2,000 first through sixth graders.

"The hands-on experience allows them to learn by doing rather than watching someone else or reading about doing," noted Grant.

Cost for the camp is $125, which covers all materials used and a daily lunch. For further information or to register, contact Betsy Grant at Coast Episcopal Elementary School, Bay St. Louis, 467-5125.

Leftover bread becomes strata

A strata is a custard mixture that is poured over layers of bread and cheese. It was created to use up leftover bread.

A frittata is an unfolded Italian version of the omelet. This tasty recipe combines the two.

By lightly sauteing the bread cubes and vegetables, this frittata is full of crunch and color. If you don't have any leftover bread in the house, croutons can be substituted. Why not experiment with flavored croutons or different types of bread?

BROCCOLI STRATA FRITTATA

serves 2
1 tablespoon margarine
1/2 cup day-old French bread, cubed
1/2 cup chopped fresh broccoli

1/4 cup chopped red pepper
1 tablespoon chopped onion
4 eggs
1/4 cup water
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper

2 tablespoons shredded Cheddar cheese

In 8-inch skillet with oven-proof handle* melt margarine. Stir in bread cubes, broccoli, red pepper and onion; saute until bread cubes are lightly toasted. Beat together eggs, water, salt and pepper until blended. Pour into pan.

Cook over low to medium heat until eggs are almost set 7 to 9 minutes. Remove from heat. Sprinkle with cheese. Broil about 6 inches from heat until eggs are completely set and cheese is melted, about 2 to 3 minutes.

*To oven proof handle, wrap completely with aluminum foil.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Fresh, flavorful and fruit-accented, that's the theme of my menus these days, as I take full advantage of the wealth of fresh fruits of all sorts in our markets these Spring days.

And, not only fruits; the Spring harvests of vegetables are also piled high in the bins—tender, tender snapbeans, yellow squash, asparagus, avocados, to mention only a few. And, to go along with these, our markets offer bargains in various meats and poultry and fish items.

I've been enjoying strawberries all but round the clock, from breakfast cereal, waffle toppers to strawberry and sour cream snacks late in the evening, with other variations in the intervening hours! And, I've been making quick strawberry shortcakes, using biscuits, and topping with cream, in the old-fashioned way.

Grapefruit are a good buy, and ever-so-juicy, as are Navel oranges, for instance; and don't forget the bananas! Fruit is a fine partner for pork and ham dishes; and there are choices aplenty at good prices—whole smoked picnics, whole cooked and trimmed hams, and Boston Butt pork roast. Pork ribs and chops and steaks are also good choices. Chickens are a good buy also; and so are beef boneless shoulder roasts.

When I roast a chicken, as I'm doing at this moment (or, I meant to say, as the oven is doing at this moment) I first place a halved lemon in the cavity. This ensures moist flesh, with crisp skin somehow. Try it!

And, I often cut up a banana, an apple, and an orange, and place these in the cavity, for flavor. We all now the affinity of pork and apples. Why not vary the theme a bit and cook pork chops or roasts with slices of orange and lemon?

And, still on the subject of fresh fruit, one of my favorite desserts in Springtime is a bowl of lushly ripe strawberries, with a bowl of sour cream alongside, as well as one of brown sugar. Dip a berry in the sour cream, then in the brown sugar— heavenly!

You may want to mix up this dip for the berries (as well as small chunks of melon, and grapes and perhaps slices or segments of those wonderfully juicy Navel oranges. Here's:

DIP FOR FRESH FRUIT

1 cup sour cream
1/2 cup confectioner's sugar
1 tsp. fresh lemon juice
1 tsp. grated lemon rind
Mix well together and serve with sliced or cubed or chopped fruit of your choice.

Or, you might want to go a bit "fancier and sweeter" with:

CHEESECAKE FRUIT DIP

1 (8 oz.) package Philadelphia-style cream cheese
1 Tbsp. grated orange rind
1 (7 oz.) jar marshmallow creme

Dash of ginger
Combine softened cream cheese and marshmallow creme until well blended. Stir in rind and ginger, and serve with fresh fruit for dipping.

Greek food abounds at annual festival

The annual Greek Festival will be held at Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church in Biloxi May 7 and 8.

A twilight dinner will be on Friday from 6 to 9 p.m. On the menu will be a choice of 'Psito Arni' lamb prepared Greek-style, or 'Kota Oragino,' baked chicken with spices and lemon; 'Manestra,' (rice-like pasta and cheese); choice of stuffed grape leaves and spinach pies; Greek salad, 'Tsoureki,' (Greek bread) and 'Galatobouriko' with filo (baked Greek custard with filo) and yogurt cake.

Tickets may be purchased ahead of time from the Orthodox Community members or by calling 436-4207, 875-2226 or 374-6861.

RE-ELECT JOHN WILKERSON

To the Voters of Ward Four:

I have traveled through the Ward, going door-to-door, trying to reach every voter. Needless to say, I missed some of you. If you have something you wish to talk to me about, please either call my home at 467-6098 or leave a message at 467-9092 and I will return your call.

I want to assure you of one thing... although I'm not a native, I, of my own free will, decided 35 years ago, that I wanted to live in Bay St. Louis and raise my children here. I even had to commute to New Orleans for seven years to make a living. Believe me, I want to see Bay St. Louis retain its charm and magnetism... the things that brought me here in the first place. I'm also glad that now we can offer home town people home town jobs. I believe that by working slowly and deliberately and thinking out our problems, we can reach a solution that works for all of Bay St. Louis.

In closing, let me say that I have enjoyed my time as your City Councilman and I hope to be able to continue to work for you. We have programs started that I would like to complete. At this time, I would like to officially ask for your vote. Please vote for JOHN WILKERSON on May 4th for the office of City Councilman, Ward 4.

OLA takes state title

Lawyers go to class next week in the Bay

What do Hancock County lawyers and students at Bay High School, Bay Middle School and North Bay Elementary have in common?

They will be participating in "A Lawyer in Every Mississippi Classroom" Program during Law Week, May 1-7. Some 300 lawyers will "fan out" across the state during the week to visit local elementary, middle and high schools. These attorneys will participate in classroom activities which focus on the continuing importance of the rule of law in America.

Area lawyers participating include Ann Williamson, Henry C. III, Bobby Randall, and John Scandale. The program is sponsored by The Mississippi Bar Young Lawyers Division and coordinated by the Mississippi Law-Related Education Center. The program has offered to place a lawyer in every Mississippi classroom which so desires.

Once in the classroom, these volunteer lawyers will serve as teachers and discussion facilitators and will encourage students to think about how our system of justice affects their daily lives.

Burial flags, grave markers available to some reservists

By Donald Mauffray, CVSO
The VA has announced that recent legislation now extends eligibility for government headstones, markers and burial flags to certain military reservists.

In general, veterans discharged from active duty under conditions other than dishonorable are eligible for a government-provided headstone or marker and burial flag.

Many reservists already meet this eligibility requirement because of active duty during periods such as the Persian Gulf War.

Before enactment of the new law, reservists who had served on active duty only for training were not eligible for these benefits. The law now makes eligible all who have completed at least 20 years of qualifying reserve duty.

In fiscal year 1992, VA provided 302,975 headstones and markers for veterans — a 9.3 percent increase over the yearly average of 277,150 in the previous five fiscal years.

VA's National Cemetery System served more veterans and their next of kin in fiscal year 1992 than in any other year since the establishment of the program in 1862.

VA headstones and markers are available in both the traditional upright, marble headstone and the modern, bronze, marble or granite flat marker types.

Bronze niche markers are also available. Headstones and markers are provided automatically to mark the graves of veterans in national cemeteries and state veterans cemeteries. Upon application, they are also provided to mark graves of veterans in other cemeteries, including private cemeteries.

VA always provides for the cost of transporting the headstone or marker. If interment occurs in a private cemetery, however, VA does not pay for the cost of placing the gravemarker.

For more information on VA's headstone and marker program, including application information, contact me, your veterans service officer, at 467-2100, or the VA Regional Office in Jackson at 1-800-527-1000.

Orchids offer challenge but are not impossible

By Dr. Milo Burnham

Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Orchids have mystified gardeners for almost 300 years. John Byrd, weed specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, is an orchid enthusiast and authors this week's column.

Many people have a preconceived notion that growing orchids is difficult, if not impossible, without a greenhouse and college degree in floriculture.

Others think since orchids are from tropical jungles near the equator, bright light and unbearable, hot temperatures are essential to grow and flower these plants.

The fact is many types of orchids can be grown easily right in your home, at temperatures comfortable to you, using sunlight that comes through an appropriate window.

The first attempts at orchid cultivation date back to the early 1700s. Cultivated plants were not successfully flowered too scarce for all but the wealthy to afford.

Scarcity is no longer a limiting factor. Advances in propagation techniques have made orchids readily available and affordable. Indeed, it is not uncommon to find orchids at a local greenhouse, nursery or even grocery store.

All flowering plants require water, nutrients and light to survive. Orchids are no different. To provide the most ideal conditions, orchids need filtered light, high humidity, water, dilute fertilizer and air circulation. With some attention, these necessities can be provided in your own home.

The Phalaenopsis orchids (also known as slipper orchids) have low light requirements and are easy for beginners to grow. These orchids often bloom more than once each year, and the flowers may last up to three months.

Many orchid hybrids of the Cattleya genus and other closely related genera may be small enough in height and have suffi-

A sheer curtain over the window will filter the sunlight and reduce the heat buildup, thereby providing a more suitable environment. Direct, early morning sunlight with filtered sunlight the rest of the day, provides ideal light conditions for windowsill orchid culture.

Humidity should be between 40 and 60 percent for orchid culture. Although humidity is not this high in most homes, adequate conditions can be created with a humidity tray.

A humidity tray is a glass, ceramic or plastic container. Water evaporates from the filled with coarse gravel or rocks and water. tray and raises the humidity around the orchids. Orchid pots are placed directly on the rocks, but should not contact the water.

An alternative is to place a humidifier near the plants. For small collections, humidity trays will suffice. A mist bottle is a beneficial supplement to the humidity tray.

Misting the foliage once or twice per day is adequate. Mist only the foliage as water drops on flowers encourages their deterioration.

until almost 100 years later, but those flowers sparked a craze for orchids in Europe. Many early orchid collections were private collections of wealthy Europeans.

Plants were collected from the wild and shipped back to Europe. Collectors often faced harsh conditions, rugged terrain and disease. Transportation was difficult and plants reached Europe in poor health. Supply and demand were low, and orchids were expensive. Plants were ciently low light requirements to be suitable for windowsill culture.

For most people with no orchid growing experience, a Phalaenopsis hybrid is the most suitable plant to begin with.

Generally, the light through an east, south or west facing window is adequate to grow and flower many types of orchids. Direct, late afternoon sunshine may create a heat problem in western facing windows unless some shading is provided.

Day Care Center hosts benefit for
St. Jude Children's Research Hospital

BY LIZ HAAS

The Lutheran Church of the Pines Christian Day Care Center in Waveland hosted its Third Annual Trike-a-thon for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital last Monday.

The children, between the ages of 3 and 5, rode their bicycles around a homemade track equipped with street and stop signs in the parking lot of the center located at 412 Highway 90.

The teachers, Agnus Parker, Ethel Harrington and Jeanne Richardson, directed the children around the track and at the appropriate stop signs.

"We usually raise between $400 and $500," said Jeanette Fricke, center director.

Parents collected pledges and donations for the benefit.

FOOD LOVERS DIET
 To introduce a new approach to dieting, free diet pills were given to 50 people. With The Omicron Diet, one man lost 14 pounds in 5 days and one woman lost 18 pounds in 10 days. The average weight loss was over a pound a day for women and over 2 pounds a day for men. The Omicron Diet is a revolutionary new concept for unbelievably fast weight loss developed and clinically proven by National Dietary Research of Washington, D.C. This significant breakthrough in metabolic weight control was made possible by the utilization of biological information over-looked by other diet programs. With a formulation of natural enzymes along with real food, you shed unwanted pounds extremely rapidly and safely. Now available:

Wolf River water testing conducted as Earth Day project

Special to the Echo
By Norma Ritch

Just what is in our water? We know what is not in the Wolf River.

Students of Hancock North Central Elementary were part of tests performed at Cable Bridge on the Wolf River on Earth Day, April 21.

USDA soil conservationist Harold Dungan, Soil Conservation Service (SCS) along with Hancock County Soil and Water Conservation District (HCSWCD) technician Kelvin Burge assisted the 32 students in processing the tests for nitrates in the river.

These tests proved there were no nitrates to be found at that time. Nitrates are found in fertilizers used by almost every farmer, whether on a large farm or small garden. "Nitrates are good to have, but no in abundance," said Dungan.

Hosts for this year's project were Mississippi Power Company and Mississippi Soil Conservation Service.

Mississippi Power supplied the funds for the purchase of the river test kits to be used in testing all the rivers in South to Hancock County as well as Harrison and Jackson counties," said Dungan.

Mississippi. MPC representative Ray Jackson was present at the test site, and was available for questions.

"Through efforts of Jeannie May, USDA Soil Conservation

dents to explore the cause and effect relationship between their personal activities and the water quality of local creeks and streams, area rivers, and ultimately the Gulf of Mexico.

Eighteen Mississippi schools have been selected to join in the project. Designed to increase public awareness, the project's emphasis center on personal activities and responsibilities.

Mississippi River Project for America's Sea is a 10-state effort being observed May 12, when thousands of students will be testing the Mississippi River. This project is one of major events in a nationwide observance 'Year of the Gulf of Mexico.'

River Project partners include Mississippi Soil and Water Society, Mississippi Power Co., Mississippi Chemical Company, Sanderson Farms, Mississippi Alabama Sea Grant, USDA Soil Conservation Service, US Environmental Protection Agency, Mote Marine Laboratory, Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality and Celebrate the Gulf Foundation.

River Project state coordinator Martha Murphy was instrumental in bringing the project

Talent show to raise funds for scholarships

The North Gulfport Community Scholarship Fund Inc. presents its Third Annual Apollo Coast wide Talent Show at 3 p.m. on Sunday, July 11 at the Broadwater Tower in Biloxi, located at 2060 Beach Boulevard.

Cash prizes, trophies and awards will be given.

The finals will be held in August.

The Scholarship Fund Inc., a chartered non-profit organization, provides financial assistance to deserving underprivileged community students seeking higher education.

Its primary vehicle for raising funds is through the annual Coast wide talent show. Last years profit was $1,854. This year, the organization has conducted several other fund raising activities.

The scholarship selection process is conducted in cooperation with the Coast Mentor Program and students are selected by the counseling staff based on need, desire and academic accomplishments.

This year's goal is to provide financial support for eight students enrolling at Gulf Coast junior colleges and universities next semester. Each student will receive a $500 scholarship which will cover the cost, tuition, books and parking fees for the full semester.

This year, they are expanding to include Hancock County.

Anyone wishing to donate to the fund may make checks payable to North Gulfport Community Scholarship Fund, Inc., 4706 Wisconsin Avenue, Gulfport MS 39501.

For more information and to register for the talent show, contact True Johnson at 864-2879, Tamika Smith at 864-8623, Lucy McKay at 864-5049 and Henry S. Twigg at 467-0159.

Give your mom the gift of her life.

(And, yourself as well!)

It may not be as colorful as roses, or as fashionable as a new dress, but a mammogram gift certificate could be the most beautiful Mother's Day gift of all. A mammogram can detect a problem in the breast as early as two years before it can be felt.

The American Cancer Society recommends that every woman begin mammography by the age of 40. Women with a family history of breast cancer, who have never had children or who had their first child after 30 may consider a mammogram before age 40. Women over 50 should be checked annually.

NorthShore Regional Medical Center's Outpatient Diagnostic Center is offering a gift certificate for a mammogram and interpretation by one of our board-certified radiologists for the special price of only $50. Our mammograms are performed by certified female technologists. We also offer breast self examination instruction.

To order your mom's mammogram gift certificate mail in the form below or call 646-5003. And, while you're at it, order one for yourself.

To guarantee delivery for Mother's Day, call or mail completed form in by Monday, May 3. Certificates are valid through Friday, July 30, 1993.

IN THANKSGIVING TO ST. LUCY, Patron Saint for the eyes. To St. Lucy: St. Lucy, your beautiful name signifies light. By the light of faith which God bestowed upon you, increase and preserve this light in my soul so that I may avoid evil, be zealous in the performance of good works, and abhor nothing so much as the blindness and the darkness of evil and of sin. By intercession with God, obtain for me perfect vision for my bodily eyes, and the grace to use them for God's greater honor and glory and the salvation of all men. St. Lucy, virgin and martyr, hear my prayers and obtain my petitions. Amen.
